1. INTRODUCTION

Joint Ministerial Decree set some Indonesian public holidays. In the joint Ministerial Decree, Indonesia introduce the concept of joint holiday (cuti bersama), to promote domestic tourism and also to prolong holiday weekends, mostly on a Monday or Friday (Martono, Marina & Wardana, 2016). Thus, if a public holiday falls on a Thursday, the joint holiday program encourages the employers to give the employees Friday off so that the employees have a four-day weekend. According to Act No.13 of 2003, workers are not obligated to work on public holidays, however, if they work are required to be done on public holidays, the employers are subject to pay overtime payments to the workers (Djajaputra, Handayani, & Martono, 2017). The popular holidays relating to religious such as Eid al fitri, Eid al Adha, Isra Mi’raj, Birthday of the Prophet Muhammad for Moslem, Ascension Day of Jesus Christ, for Christian, Bali Hindu New Year for Hindu Religion, Chinese New Year for Chinese, whilst national holiday such as Independent day, Labor Day, all above-mentioned holidays are celebrated to the home by them. In relation to Christmas celebration of 2017, mostly they celebrate to the home land with their friend and families (Djajaputra, Handayani, & Martono, 2017).

2. AVIATION SAFETY AND SECURITY OF CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION
This part deals with preparation of security for Christmas celebration including threat’s anticipation, sweeping action by a certain party, safeguarding Christmas celebration in Jakarta, Christmas safety guaranteed, aviation safety and security. On 24 December 2017, the Jakarta Police are safeguarding Christmas celebrations by deploying police officers as well as members of the bomb squad (Gegana) in all churches across Jakarta during Christmas Eve. According to Sr. Comr. Argo Yuwono, police spokes-person, Gegana will ensure each police precinct secure all churches. The security measures were to anticipate potential issues, including the possibility of terror attacks. The security of each church would depend on the local police headquarters. The Church services are not the same, some on Saturday, some on Saturday night or Sunday night but Gagana keeps a record of everything. There are several Churches that needed special attention due to large congregations, such as Jakarta Cathedral in Central Jakarta. In addition to deploying personnel, police will also install security equipment such as metal detectors at the entrances of some of the churches. In this connection National Police Chief Gen.Tito Karnavian and Indonesian Military (TNI) Commander Air Chief Marshall Hadi Tjahjanto are scheduled to monitor the security measures directly (Septiari, 2017). Indonesia has become a member of the ICAO, since 27 April 1950. Taking into consideration that Indonesia is a member of ICAO, Indonesia issued the CAA of 2009 (Dempsey, 2005; Dempsey, 2002; Dempsey, 2004). It regulates aviation safety such as aircraft production, aircraft operation, aircraft maintenance and safety during aircraft in flight (Djajaputra, Handayani, & Martono, 2017). With regards to aviation security, it regulated in Part XIV from Article 323 to 356 of the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA) of 2009 (CAA, 2009). It regulates, among others, national aviation security, aviation supervision, eradication of unlawful acts, aviation security facilities, security during aircraft in flight, security during aircraft in the airports, and security in the restricted area (Gunawan Djajaputra, Handayani, & Martono, 2017; Abeyratne, 2014).

3. AIR TRANSPORTATION OF CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION
The aim and objective of the Civil Aviation Act of 2009 (the CAA of 2009) is to promote the development of Indonesian air transportation and to ensure Indonesia’s air transportation sector can support national economic development and it is viable to compete and survive nationality, regionally and internationally (Henderson, 2009; Carnis & Yuliawati, 2013. It regulates a host of matters related to aviation, ranging from sovereignty in airspace, aircraft production, operation and airworthiness of aircraft, aviation safety and security, aircraft procurement, aviation insurance, aircraft accident investigation, and licensing of aviation professionals. The CAA of 2009 also regulates scheduled and non-scheduled air transport, aircraft ownership and aircraft leasing, liability of air carriers, air navigation facilities, airport authorities, and most pertinent to the current discussion, the tariffs that can be charged for the provisions of air transport services and charges related to the use of aviation facilities (Djajaputra, Handayani, & Martono, 2017; Nusraningrum & Waluyaningsih, 2013).

With regards to air transportation, the CAA provides among others type of air transport; commercial air transportation includes scheduled as well non-scheduled air transport; pioneer air transportation; air transportation permit for scheduled as well as non-scheduled; obligation of air transportation permit holders; flight network and routes; tariffs; air transportation supporting activities, air transportation services such as for disabled, old, children and/or sick passenger; dangerous goods; carrier liability includes mandatory transportation, carrier liability towards passengers and/or cargo shippers, transportation documents for passengers and cargo, amount of indemnity, period of claims, law suit, statement of possible death of passengers of lost aircraft, mandatory insurance, liability of intermodal, other carrier and third party, multi-modality transportation.

4. AIRPORTS SERVICES

After the terror attacks on 11 September 2011, the United States of America (USA) established Transportation Security Administration (TSA). One of the function of TSA is to screen passengers as well as aircrew in the airports (Mead, 2003). In this connection, during Christmas celebration, on 16, 24, 25 and 31 December 2017 travelers were projected to be 2.25 million passengers. The TSA called it one of the busiest travel weeks in its 16-year decade of federal screening within the period of Christmas celebration.

According to Dewandono Prasetyo Nugroho, Branch Communication Manager of Soekarno-Hatta International Airport (SHIA), all facilities, operating equipment, security, service and human resources are in excellent condition and ready to provide services to all airport service users. BCMSHIA is ready to face various possibilities during the Christmas holiday season at Soekarno-Hatta International Airport (SHIA) and predicts the Christmas and New Year 2018 holidays there will be a rise in the number of passengers by 5.8% and the plane's movement by 3.5% compared to 2016. During the Christmas and New Year holiday season from 18 December 2017 to 8 January 2018, SHIA will be packed with about 4.2 million passengers. If averaged per day there will be 190,000 passengers who come and go from SHIA.

According to Agus Santoso, the Director General of Air Communications (DGAC) of Ministry of Communications (MOC), on 24 December 2017, passengers increase significantly in SHIA. The number rose by 15% to 221,652 as compared to the corresponding period of 192,373 last year. Travelers are mostly heading to the major destinations, such as NRIA and Hasanuddin International Airport (HIA) in Makassar, whilst tourists departing for NRIA in Denpasar rose by 29% without detailing the exact figures. This is surprising, it means that they are not deterred by the current situation relating to the erupting of MA in Bali. Agus Santoso added that the MOT had prepared extra flights to anticipate more spikes in passenger numbers (www.thejakartapost.com/news/2017). While in Ngurah Rai International Airport, Bali, the peak of Christmas and New Year 2018 holiday is predicted to occur on 22 December 2017 with a total passenger of 213,000 people and has been prepared 1,219 extra flight schedules by airlines. As for the areas that become favorite destinations are Ngurah Rai International Airport (NRIA) in Denpasar, Kualanamu International Airport (KIA) in Medan, Juanda International Airport (JIA) in Surabaya, Adi Sucipto International Airport (ASIA) in Yogyakarta and Adi Sumarno International Airport (ASIA) in Solo, for that reason, PT Angkasa Pura II has coordinated with the relevant security officers and conduct raids to clean the airport from illegal practices. If there is criminal violation, it will certainly be processed by law.

In Indonesia, it is also interesting to point out that exodus tradition given rise to an enormous boost in the money circulation across the archipelago as millions of people travel to the rural areas to spend some days with their families and friends. It is estimated that these people carry trillions of rupiah (hundreds of millions of US dollars) with them to the rural regions will increase a temporary economic activities such as regional transportation, tourism, hotels, restaurant, souvenir, animal product, gift, consumption on food products, clothes, bags, shoes and increase a temporary region economic and finally increase the prosperity of the people in the region, however, in line with the increasing economic activities, there are inflation rate within Christmas celebration of 2017 (Djajaputra, Handayani, & Martono, 2017).

The peak of the exodus usually occurs three or four days ahead of Christmas celebration around 23 December 2017 this year and is always accompanied by severe traffic jams due to the country’s lack of quality and quantity of infrastructure. Transport companies have to work over hours in the period to accommodate the sudden jump in passengers. The MOT, Budi Karya Sumadi, predicted millions of peoples Indonesian will mudik for Christmas celebration, mostly traveling from cities on Java to the villages in Central and East Java. Usually the government also provides additional transport such as air transportation, land transportation and railway transportation as well.
